

Tips for Card Management

With so many HistoryPlunge cards, it can be tricky to keep track of the cards so the decks remain complete. Try some of these ideas.

Create dividers from index cards to separate categories of cards in the box. You might have to store the frame cards on the side to do this or take out a few cards, such as the Disclaimer card.	In tournament play, lay out all of the cards in piles on the table before play begins.
If multiple boxes are being used in the same room, make sure to clearly separate the playing areas so the cards do not get mixed up.	Use 1 box of cards for every 6 players.
Have someone sort through the boxes and count all of the cards in each box. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>● 45 President Portrait Cards</li> <li>● 67 President Fact Cards</li> <li>● 62 Baseline Question Cards, including a few map cards (2 sided)</li> <li>● 27 Power Cards</li> <li>● 280 Silver and Gold Timeline cards with different time periods</li> <li>● 87 Notable Portrait Cards (2 sided)</li> <li>● 36 Clue Cards</li> <li>● Instruction Cards, Decoding Cards, Answer Key Cards (Available online)</li> <li>● 2 Frames (For some reason, this card is easily misplaced. Keep track of it and consider making a few replicas from index cards.)</li> </ul>	Separate the timeline cards by color and then date. Use one subset or multiple subsets as players get more advanced. The backs of these cards are color-coded by time period. The silver cards are the core historical facts. Silver: 1492-1799 Silver: 1800-1899 Silver: 1900-current The gold cards contain some core historical facts plus social historical facts. Gold: 1492-1799 Gold: 1800-1899 Gold: 1900-current
Do not leave the HistoryPlunge boxes on a shelf with other classroom resources. Require students to check out the boxes if they want to play.	A must rule: No food when cards are out! If students are playing during snack or lunch time, eat first and then play.
